The Codman Co./TCN announced that Trevilco's has leased 6,749 square feet at 273 Summer St. in Boston, a brick-and-beam building located in South Boston's Waterfront District. Frank Nelson, of Cushman & Wakefield, represented the tenant, and Lisa Donfrancesco, vice president of Codman, represented the landlord, Boston Wharf Co., in the transaction. Trevilco's move to a nearby building will allow the company to expand its office space within their preferred location of South Boston's Waterfront District. Trevilco's specializes in the construction of slurry walls throughout the world and will make the move from 250 Summer St. in Boston to 273 Summer St. to gain additional space. The Codman Co. recently affiliated with TCN Worldwide Real Estate Services, a 56-member firm association that covers more than 150 metropolitan areas in North America and Europe.
